Week in Review

Campers had a wonderful week learning, playing and enjoying being outside in the beautiful nature that our park offers. Each of the groups did their own special activities in art and science, so be sure to check out all of the articles to learn what everyone is up to at camp. Our Eco-Citizen theme continued this week with an awesome field trip to Miami Science Museum where campers had fun exploring all the new exhibits and watching a starry show in the giant planetarium. Ask your campers to tell you about their favorite part of this exciting day! Unfortunately camp was closed on Friday due to severe weather; so, parents please read the Important Reminders section for more details on camp weather policies. See you next week!

Weekly Highlights:

- Science Museum Field Trip
- Fun Fishing

Busy Little Squirrels

The Squirrels had fun doing many different activities this week: playing at the beach, doing a mummy wrap, learning how to save the planet with worms, and even making homemade super heroes in art! In science, Ms. Lori taught the Squirrels all about worms and how important they are for the environment;

then the group got to make their own colorful and creative worms using polymers! The activity this group had the most fun doing was the ever popular Mummy Wrap. Ms. Yvette, their head counselor, brought in some toilet paper and the campers "mummified" themselves with it. Sounds like tons of fun. Thanks for another great week Squirrels!!!

Inquisitive Iguanas

The Iguanas this week proved themselves as truly awesome group. The group was always busy learning and playing in different activities of camp. Their favorite activity of the week was the field trip to the Miami Science Museum and Planetarium. At the Museum, the Iguanas learned about energy, constellations, wildlife, and much more. Another favorite was fishing- Tyler C. kept his King Angler title when he caught his 3rd fish! What really made this group stand out this week was how much of a great example they set for the rest of the camp. Head Counselor, Christopher, says that the group does "an excellent job speaking and playing with each other even though many of us speak a different language." Great job Iguanas; keep it up!! See ya next week!

Super Sharks

The Sharks enjoyed a fun week of sports, beach, fishing, and even going on a field trip. On the field trip to the Miami Science Museum and Planetarium, the group explored all the fun and interactive exhibits and learned a lot along the way. For this group, though, sports took the main stage this week as games of baseball, kickball, soccer, and much more were played. In kickball, Paul A. emerged as the star player as he kicked the ball "out of the park" to win the game! Keep up the enthusiasm Paul! Also the group proved that anything is possible with a little passion and perseverance as one team overcame an 8 to 0 deficit to win an exciting game of baseball, 9 to 8! Wow, sounds like a lot of fun Sharks. Thanks for another great week Sharks!!
